Huge Defense Bill Runs Into House Debate On Slash

Committee Reduces Measure By More Than $2 1/2 Billions

WASHINGTON, May 24 (P)—A 33½ billion-dollar defense appropriation started through the House today and crashed into a crossfire of debate over whether it has been cut to the danger point.

Members of the Appropriations Committee, which brought the bill to the floor with a reduction of more than 2½ billions, disagreed sharply on that. President Eisenhower requested $36,128,000,000 in Defense Department appropriations for the 12 months beginning July 1. The committee allowed $33,541,225,000.

Upholds Administration

Upholding the administration's contention that the slashes, if they stand, will mean risky, unwise gambling with national security, Rep. Wiggleworth (R-Mass) told his colleagues the cuts "are deeper than they should be."

But Rep. Mahon (D-Tex), the man piloting the bill toward a House vote next week, assured the members "we have proceeded with the greatest care and caution" with what "could be an extremely dangerous business."

"We tried to make cuts," he said, "so that if war should break out next week, next month or next year, there would be no additional hazard to the United States."

Taking a middle ground stance, Rep. Scrivner (R-Kan) contended some cuts are too deep, some not deep enough.

Soundings of sentiment indicated that the House is likely to stick pretty closely to what the Appropriations Committee has proposed when the bill gets to the amendment and voting stage next week.

The big money bill, embracing about half the appropriations Eisenhower asked for the entire government for the next fiscal year, also went into a second day of hearings before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee.

Battles Reductions

The concentration there was on the Army, with Army Secretary Wilber Brucker battling proposed House reductions he said could have tragic, disastrous consequences.

They come at a time, he said, when Russia and Red China each have ground forces of some 2½ million men, against a million for this country. Furthermore, he said, Russia shows "no evidence" of carrying out last year's announced intention to reduce her military manpower—ground, sea and air—by 1,200,000.

Brucker called on the senators to restore 36 millions for personnel, 150 millions for operation and maintenance, 10 millions for the reserves, eight millions for research and development, and $700,000 for Alaskan communications. These add up to $204,700,000.

As for the schools, Eisenhower said, "The federal government must give emergency help. Once we help the states build the classrooms, the federal government must and will get out. The states thereafter must take over full responsibility."

He said he hoped to see a "tax cut for every taxpayer" but he did not give any indication of when it might come.

Highway Paving Resumed; Bird Eggs Are Hatched

HAGERSTOWN, May 24 (P)—Hagerstown can go on repaving of Columbia Avenue. The bird eggs have hatched, and the mama killdeer has taken her two offspring to less conspicuous quarters.

Construction work on the street was stopped about two weeks ago when workmen came across killdeer's nest directly in their path. The city fathers told them to work elsewhere until the eggs had hatched. And the mother killdeer quickly led her offspring through the underbrush and disappeared.

Killdeers are a ground bird and his left arm is in a sling, because of a minor injury suffered in the well.

The $450 battery-driven automobile was presented to him by a group of automobile dealers as he left Bayview General Hospital in nearby Mastic. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Hooper Sr., packed it into their automobile.

The boy, proudly wearing a baseball cap given him by the New York Giants, could hardly wait to try out his car.

He scooted here, there and everywhere about the Hooper yard with no attempt to avoid the well site. Part of the time he had his sister, Wendy, 6, as a passenger.

The automobile, though, was but part of the excitement. Waiting for Benny were his two dogs, Dusty and Butch, and a new dog, Rin Tin Tin, that had arrived as a present.

Man Is Indicted In Theatre Fire

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., May 24 (P)—Arthur William Kief, 21, has been indicted by the Berkeley County grand jury on a charge of arson in connection with the blaze that damaged a downtown theater here March 17. Damage was placed at $35,000.

Kief was arrested on suspicion shortly after the fire when police received reports he was first at the scene.

The fire broke out in the mezzanine floor while a religious service was in progress. The crowd was able to vacate the theater without injury, although firemen had to rescue five trapped persons by ladders.

Ike Claims Veto Power Budget Aid

"Serious Cutting" Could Be Done On Specific Items

TRENTON, N.J., May 24 (P)—President Eisenhower said today he could "easily do some serious expense cutting" if Congress would give him power to veto specific items in appropriations bills.

In what amounted to a challenge to the Democratic-controlled Congress, he took a slap at a subject dear to the hearts of many congressmen—some river and harbors projects, which often mean votes back home.

"This (veto power)" he said, in a telephoned message to a regional Republican party rally here "would let the President cut out of appropriation bills some expensive—and unnecessary—projects."

"It would permit the president to stop any new public works project not approved by the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors."

Could Do Cutting

And, Eisenhower added, "If the item veto existed right now, I could easily do some serious expense cutting."

He said it would be "one simple way to save a lot of money."

At present the president must veto the whole appropriations bill if he wants to kill one item.

Several times he has asked Congress for selective veto power.

Many rivers and harbors projects are local in nature but are backed by local interests and thus often are important to members of Congress.

Eisenhower made his talk to two dozen party leaders at the sixth and last of a series of regional Republican conferences aimed at whipping up enthusiasm for the 1958 congressional elections.

Asks For GOP Congress

Calling for a GOP Congress next year, he said: "When the executive and legislative branches are under different party control, it becomes difficult for the people to assess the results—there is a confused political situation that leads to partisan bickerings and inefficiency in the public business."

Once more the President proposed for his $71,800,000,000 budget—especially his $3,865,000,000 foreign aid program—and for his school construction plans.

Of the budget, he said 62 percent "is to preserve the security of our nation and to wage the peace on a broad front. Only as we can reduce the tensions of the world can we achieve those great savings in expenditures which we need and want."

As for the schools, Eisenhower said, "The federal government must give emergency help. Once we help the states build the classrooms, the federal government must and will get out. The states thereafter must take over full responsibility."

He said he hoped to see a "tax cut for every taxpayer" but he did not give any indication of when it might come.

Agitators' Paid In Union Fights

NEW YORK, May 24 (P)—President David J. McDonald of the United Steel Workers Union claimed today there is an organization which trains "agitators" and pays them $7,000 each a year to act as "professional union busts" in mills, mines and factories.

He did not name the organization but said he had personal knowledge of its existence. He said, however, it was not involved with the basic steel industry.

He was addressing the biennial conference of his union's organization in New York State.

Digest Price Hiked

PLEASANTVILLE, N.Y., May 24 (P)—The Reader's Digest magazine said today its price per copy would increase from 25 to 35 cents next September and its subscription price would jump from $3 to $4 at the start of next year.

"Here's a chance," the firm's advertisement said, "to cut your income taxes and improve your golf score at the same time."

Benny Home Full Of Pep; Given Small Automobile

MANORVILLE, N.Y., May 24 (P)—The boy who spent 24 hours trapped in a well while the nation virtually held its breath came home from the hospital today—all smiles and full of pep.

If Benny Hooper Jr. has any memories of his ordeal a week ago they weren't apparent.

Within minutes after being greeted by neighbors, the seven-year-old was gaily driving a miniature automobile over the site of the since filled-in well.

Benny is supposed to spend the next few days resting, but his pent up energy was such that his parents allowed him to work some of it off. He still has a slight cough and his left arm is in a sling, because of a minor injury suffered in the well.

New Twisters Hit Southwest

Olton, Tex., Section Wiped Out By Storm

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes hit the Southwest

Friday in the latest outburst of a long series of destructive spring storms.

A twister struck the farming town of Olton in western Texas.

Deputy Sheriff V. L. Smith said the wild wind "wiped out" the Latin-American and Negro sections in southeastern Olton, a community of more than 1,000 population 50 miles northwest of Lubbock.

Red Cross representative

George Harper, Lubbock, said 10 persons were injured, 30 homes destroyed, 15 heavily damaged and 10 slightly damaged.

Lifted Without Damage

A tornado whirled near Hereford in the Texas Panhandle but apparently lifted without causing any damage.

Another tornado ripped into Ta-hoka, Tex., 28 miles south of Lubbock. Approximately 100 homes were damaged, but only one in jury was listed.

Half a dozen small twisters skipped across eastern New Mexico early Friday. Roofs were blown off houses and power lines were toppled in farms areas in the Clivio section. Another tornado ripped through ranch country near Elida. It tore out power lines and uprooted trees. No one, fortunately, was injured.

Wind-Smashed Steeple

Eighty people inside the church at Montecello, Ark., emerged unharmed when a tornado-like wind ripped off the steeple and part of the roof of the First Baptist Church. The roaring storm cut a path of destruction through the town of 5,000—unroofing homes, tearing down power lines and uprooting trees. No one, fortunately, was injured.

Living Cost Index Rises For Month

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—The cost of living went up again last month. A rise of three-tenths of one per cent was recorded by the government's Bureau of Labor Statistics. It brought the living cost index to 119.3 per cent of the 1947-49 average, a new high record. This means that it took about $1.20 in April to buy the same amount of goods and services you could get for $1 in the 1947-49 period.

It was the eighth straight month in which living costs set a record.

Average weekly earning of an unmarried factory worker, after tax deductions, were computed at $67.09 in April. This compared with $65.08 in April a year ago, but the bureau said the increase was more than absorbed by rising prices.

A sharp, seasonal jump in food prices was the principal factor in last month's rise. All cuts of meat went up, fresh fruit prices increased 4.6 per cent and fresh vegetables were higher. The price of onions alone leaped 17.5 per cent.

The cost of living index edged up enough to give automatic wage boosts of two cents an hour to 1,400,000 workers in the automobile, electrical and farm equipment industries. Their union contracts are geared to living costs as computed by the government.

Food is figured to be 3.8 per cent higher than April, 1956, the same amount of increase as that recorded for living costs as a whole in the last 12 months.

Milk prices declined seasonally, and coffee costs were down for the fifth consecutive month.

All components of housing crept upward, the bureau reported, with rent rising a tenth of one per cent and hour furnishings two-tenths of one per cent.

Reading and recreation recorded the largest monthly increase in more than six years — 1.12 per cent. Ewan Clague, head of the bureau, said this "reflects chiefly higher prices for newspapers in several cities."

Television sets and repairs were higher in the recreation category, as well as the prices of used cars, gasoline, oil and car repairs. There was a dip in the prices actually paid for new cars and tires.

The cost of clothing declined three-tenths of one per cent, mainly, the bureau said, because of lower prices offered following the Easter buying.

Clague said food prices are still on the rise, indicating still higher living costs in May and possibly the summer months.

Two Sisters Join Ministry

CLEARFIELD, Pa., May 24 (AP)—Two sisters, both former beauty queens, entered the ministry today at the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Methodist Church.

They are Jane A. Montgomery, 25, and Joann C. Montgomery, 22, daughters of the Rev. Frank W. Montgomery, incoming Sunbury district superintendent and for 10 years a pastor at State College.

Jane, who was May Queen at Penn State in 1954, plans to specialize in student work for college campuses. Joann, a runnerup in a state high school beauty contest five years ago, will do radio and television religious programming. Both were accepted on a trial basis.

Last year the conference accepted its first woman minister — Mrs. Maud Jensen of New Cumberland, now serving as a missionary in Korea. Fewer than 25 women in the United States are Methodist ministers.

STONED — U.S. Ambassador Karl Rankin was stoned as he visited the U.S. embassy in Taipei, Formosa, after it was wrecked during demonstration by mobs earlier yesterday. (See story page one.) (AP Photofax)

Authorize Navy To Buy Land For Air Station

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—The House Armed Services Committee today voted to authorize the Navy to acquire land at an undetermined Maryland location for a new naval air station.

The new field would replace the Naval Air Station at Anacostia in the District of Columbia. It would be used for training of midshipmen at the Naval Academy and reserves in the Washington-Baltimore area.

The committee voted to add three million dollars to an omnibus military public works authorization bill to acquire about 4,700 acres for the $0 million dollar airfield.

The money was requested by Vice Adm. William V. Davis Jr., deputy chief of naval operations, even though the President's Budget Bureau had not approved it.

Davis said that because of traffic congestion in the Washington area the Navy must move all air activity from the Anacostia station, which will remain as a receiving station.

Davis said an independent engineering firm has recommended a site at Davidsonville and the Navy concurs in the recommendation.

Rep. Lankford (D-Md) told the committee he was reluctantly opposed to the Davidsonville site. He said there is still a possibility that joint use of Andrews Air Force Base might be worked out.

Rep. Cole (R-NY) said the Naval Academy has needed an air field for many years and he considered it "shameful and disgraceful that the needs of the Navy have been subverted by the protests of local interests."

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) said the site selection would be left to a later review by a subcommittee.

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., May 24 (AP)—The trial of Dr. H. G. Tonkin on an abortion charge has been postponed.

Circuit Judge Decatur H. Rodgers yesterday granted continuance of the case after two physicians presented affidavits that Dr. Tonkin was not physically able to stand trial.

Judge Rodgers also postponed the trial of George Washington Singleton of Hancock, Md., indicted as an accessory in the same abortion charge.

Both pleaded innocent when arraigned last February.

Dr. Tonkin is a former mayor of Martinsburg.

Rawlings Sworn In

ANNAPOLIS, May 24 (AP)—George W. Rawlings was sworn in today for another four-year term as police commissioner of Annapolis.

He was reappointed by the City Council elected in last Tuesday's municipal election.

Blue Monday, when applied to the Monday before Lent, received its name from the custom of decorating church interiors with blue hangings on that day.

That's my daughter Ellen standing up there in her cap and gown. Valedictorian of her class! I'd be a strange mother if I didn't feel a lump in my throat, and a tremendous surge of pride.

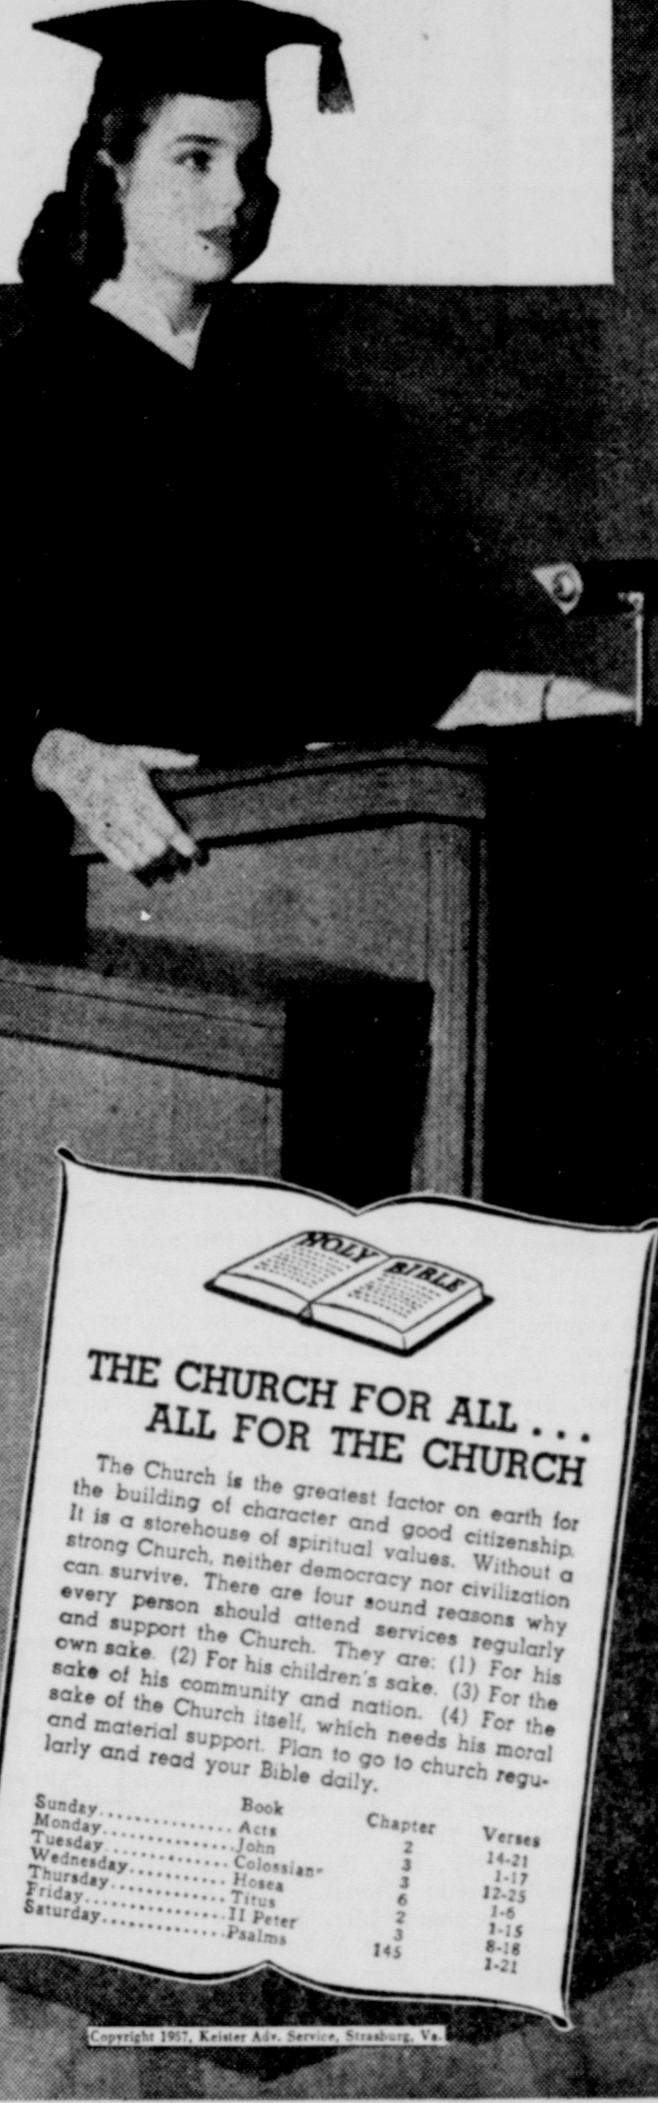

It just doesn't seem possible that my Ellen is grown-up. Like any mother, I have visions of a tiny baby ... a little girl in pigtails ... a child, beginning school.

And now here she is, speaking about the future that she and her classmates envision ... the things that they are going to try to do ... their hopes and dreams.

They are brave words, all of them ... brave dreams. And like all parents, I pray that most of them will come true. But I know that in times of failure, my Ellen will have an added strength because of her Faith, and her devotion to the Church.

How glad, how thankful, I am for that!

Oldest Ever To Sit In Congress

Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-R.I.) becomes on Sunday the oldest man ever to serve in Congress. The chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee will be 89 years and 259 days old on that day. Last year he became, on June 17, the oldest man ever to sit in the United States Senate.

Yet five other present members of the Senate have served longer there than Green, who was not first elected to the Senate (in 1936) until he was 69. The five, Democrats all, are Carl Hayden, Arizona, 79, elected in 1926 when 49; Richard B. Russell, Georgia, 59, elected in 1932 when 35; Harry F. Byrd, Virginia, 69, appointed in 1933 when 45; James E. Murray, Montana, 81, elected in 1934 when 59; Dennis Chavez, New Mexico, 69, appointed in 1935 when 47. Hayden and Chavez had previously been members of the House.

Two characteristics mark Sen. Green's voting record in Congress: he has been on the whole a "liberal." Nobody knows whether he usually voted with the Democratic administrations because he also was a liberal, or whether he usually voted liberal because that's what Presidents Roosevelt and Truman were.

Sen. Green was one of the Democratic Senators for President Roosevelt's ill-starred Supreme Court plan of 1937, as modified by compromise. Then he was one of the minority of Democrats who voted against shelving the compromise plan when this was doomed by the sudden death of majority leader Joseph T. Robinson (D-Ark.).

The nonagenarian-soon-to-be was one of only 13 Senators voting to sustain the Roosevelt veto of the tax reduction bill of 1944. He was one of the 10 voting to uphold a similar Truman veto in 1948. And he was one of relatively few Senators voting against the Taft-Hartley act, the internal security act of 1950 and the McCarran immigration restriction bill of 1952.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Counter-Offensive

Following upon President Eisenhower's speech in defense of his budget, a counter-offensive started to encourage the people to support the huge expenditures with the generalized statement that saving on defense could prove costly in the end. It is a good argument if you have the money to spend. The British, for instance, have now convinced themselves that they lack the money to maintain a first-class establishment, so they have cut the costs to meet their abilities.

The attack on the budget and the defense of it avoids the central problem which is the devaluation of the dollar. If the American dollar were at par, taking 1939 or 1945 or 1950 as a base, the cost of the budget to the American taxpayer might be regarded as reasonable. It is the squeeze involving high prices, high taxes and the lowered purchasing power of the dollar that makes the budget so horrendous. What is more, no such inflation as we now suffer could ever take place in any country if government agencies really took stern measures to defend the dollar. No such measures have been taken in the United States and they have not been taken for political reasons. Getting Emmet Hughes to write the President's speech, does not solve the problem, which is inflation and not a better speech-writer.

Stopping an inflationary trend involves sharp, brutal actions which politicians prefer to avoid. It would mean in the United States an absolute ceiling on wages, prices, rents, interest charges and profits. It would eliminate all the escalator clauses in union-management agreements. It would eliminate all the subsidies to business and the farmer and the largest subsidies paid by the government are to industries manufacturing war materials which have to be kept alive lest they not be available when needed. It is not often realized that war industries cannot be put away in moth-balls, to be brought out when needed. There will be no time to get them ready. But they are an enormous expense to keep going. Why not tell the truth about this?

No political party is willing to risk any drastic measures when there is no evidence yet that they are absolutely necessary. In fact, there is more jingle money in circulation still than anyone believed would be so after last Christmas. True, some major industries are suffering from buyers' resistance, but that could be due to other causes, such as unbelievably stupid designing of products which the people simply will not buy if they can help it.

At any rate, the problem that this country faces is not a big budget or a cut budget, not costly defenses or less costly defenses, but inflation. Just one word, inflation. Just one reality, inflation. This is our central consideration as we study the current budget.

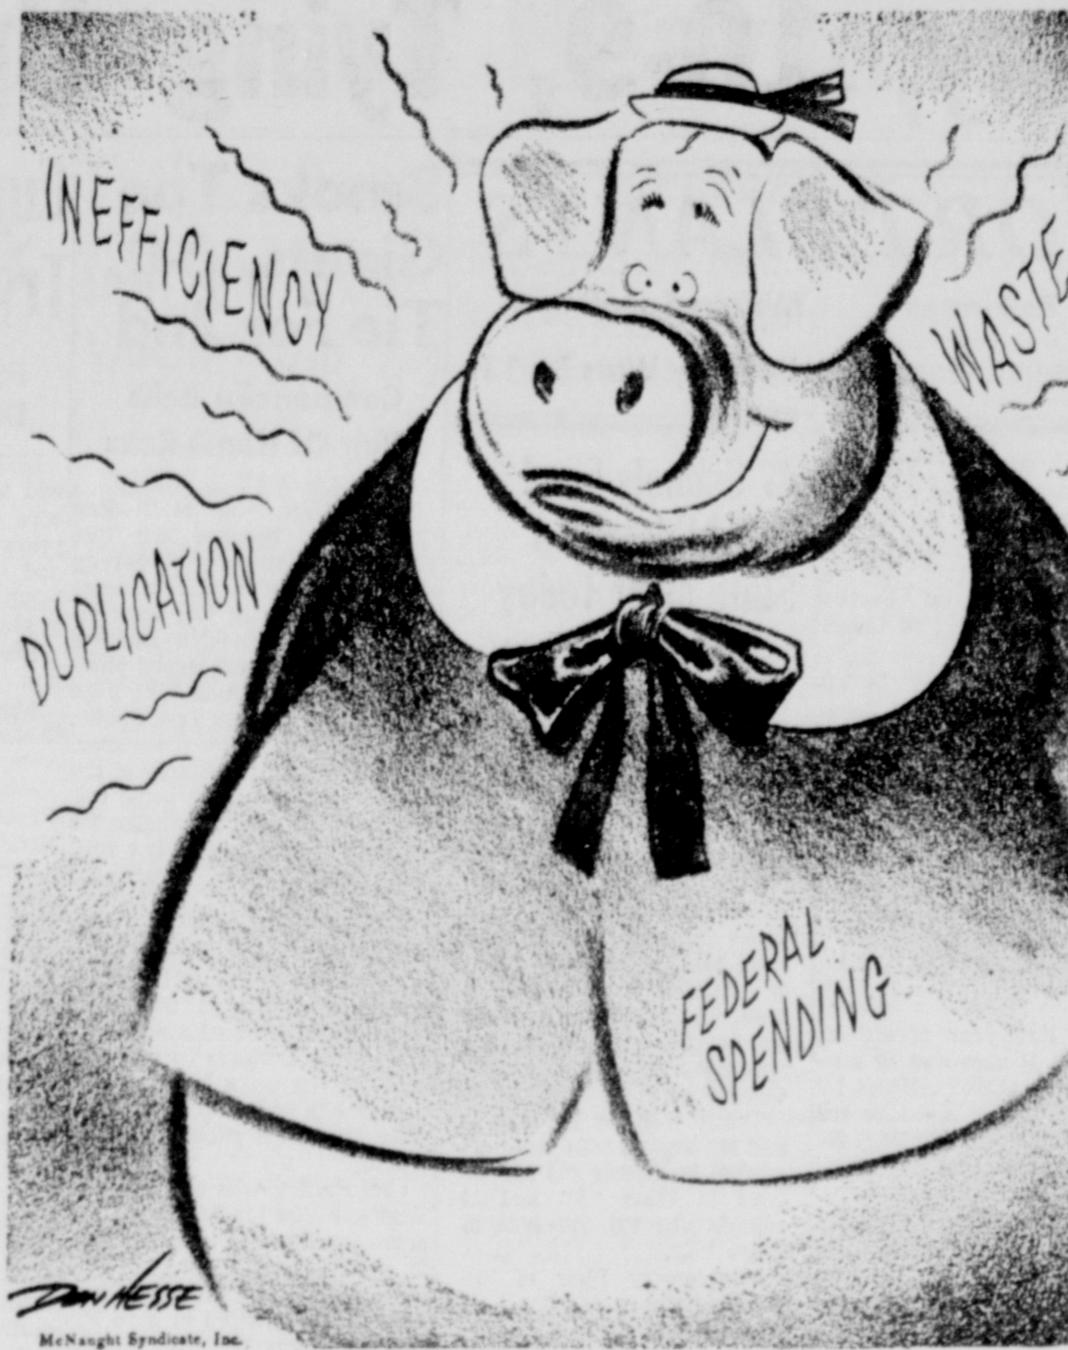

In the first of President Eisenhower's speeches on the budget, he gave the impression, it seemed to me, that the various reports of the Hoover Commission had been implemented. The next morning he sent his own plane to New York to bring Herbert Hoover to Washington, where Hoover stayed about an hour. The reports of the Hoover Commission—two of them—are anti-inflationary and can only be implemented fully by act of Congress. During the Truman Administration some actual progress was made; during the Eisenhower Administration, very little has been accomplished by legislative action.

The Hoover Commission believes that its program can save the government between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000,000 a year. Such savings would cut the budget by that amount and would be anti-inflationary in character. Bringing Mr. Hoover from New York to Washington in an airplane may demonstrate some kind of solidarity, but it does not reduce the budget. For that Congressional action is essential.

It is unfortunate that few in political life like to face the unpleasant facts of national existence. They prefer avoiding the pitfalls of reality. They cannot hide the facts or hide from them. Every day an American woman goes to market, she knows that the inflation grows increasingly more unpleasant. She can tell it in the weight of her shopping bag. She can tell it from the prices which seem to her to make no sense at all. The housewife calls it high cost of living, but what it is a perilous inflation which can become a political and social cancer.

But He Still Has B.O.

By David Lawrence

of his comments are reminiscent of Lincoln's phrase: "With malice toward none."

The reporters, for instance, asked him why he didn't go after those in his own party who disagreed.

He replied: "I have no right and no desire to punish anybody. I am committed to the support of people who believe, as I do, that the Republican platform of 1956 must be our political doctrine."

Unfortunately, many of the critics haven't read the 1956 Republican platform lately.

They would find, if they did, that it says plainly that "further reductions in government spending" are to be obtained but "without weakening the support of a superior defense program or depreciating the quality of essential services of government to our people."

The same platform pledged tax reductions, but only "insofar as consistent with a balanced budget" and the necessity for a "gradual reduction of the national debt."

Yet, less than seven months after Mr. Eisenhower was elected by an overwhelming vote, there are people who say he has repudiated his platform.

Criticism of this sort has attained a nation-wide momentum, along with a whispering campaign that the President really isn't up to good health or that he isn't up to the job or is relaxing and doesn't care to fulfill his responsibilities.

How little those who spread such unfounded gossip really know about the indefatigable labors of Dwight Eisenhower! At the press conference this week a reporter asked if the President had been "filled in" on the case of the American soldier who is accused of killing a Japanese woman.

"You has used a strange word —'filled in,'" remarked the President rather ruefully. "I have been talked to about it at very great length and both the State Department and the Defense Department are working on it very hard so that we keep our international agreements, but that we make certain that no injustice is done to any American."

Back of that comment was the story of a long conference with the Secretary of the Army and then a long talk with the Secretary of State — neither of which conference was reported in the press. Not much is known by the outside world of the many hours that the President works away from the office, in the living rooms of the White House.

The President is in good health, his mind is lively and alert, and his interest in the duties of his office is as sincere and faithful as the day he first donned the uniform of a soldier.

The persistently adverse propaganda about the President is hard to understand in view of the presence of thousands of alert reporters in Washington who can dispel such misinformation as has been spread by unfriendly critics in the political world.

But the tide is turning. The initial response from the second television address has been overwhelmingly favorable. The President is relying on the simple theory that common sense and facts will win the case in the court of public opinion.

To quote a Kipling poem, Dwight Eisenhower may find that "You can keep your head when all about you are losing theirs and blaming it on you," and if you can "be lied about" yet "don't deal in lies," or "be hated, don't give way to hating," the goal — in this case the support of the country — will be attained.

Eyes of a certain species of crayfish, according to Faciographs, have the faculty of glowing at night. Must be wonderful for 'em, if they like to read in the dark.

The President is a rare personality in American history. He is unlike any other man who has ever been in the White House.

He can take all sorts of criticism and can objectively consider the good and disregard the abuse and the emotionally extreme. Some members of Sweden's parliament have been ordered to stop watching television during its sessions. Can't blame the lawmakers—even some of those old western films are more interesting than most speeches.

On reading of several "rainfalls" of small stones near Pumphy, Australia, the man at the next desk wonders if it couldn't be that flying saucer crews have taken to throwing stones at us!

Falsetto Voice Can Be Brought Down To Earth

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The man with a falsetto voice seldom seeks medical treatment because he is sure nothing can be done. The majority believe it is their natural voice, which cannot be lowered with all the training in the world. But in many instances these persons can learn to speak an octave lower.

Years ago the late Dr. James F. Greene of the National Hospital for Speech Disorders in New York showed that the falsetto voice is fundamentally psychogenetic in origin. Success followed treatment of the emotional and physical aspects of the condition. But first the individual had to be convinced that his high-pitched voice was unnatural.

This was done in many instances by demonstrating that the voice is capable of a baritone pitch by having the patient cough or clear his throat. Then the aim is to correct the position of the larynx and increase the amount of air used to vibrate the vocal cords. The man with the falsetto voice unconsciously holds his larynx high in the neck.

In addition, the air he uses in talking comes from high in the chest and has hardly enough pressure to close the glottis or vibrate the vocal cords. This physical phase of treatment consists of light downward massage of the sides of the neck with downward pressure on the voice

box. This relaxes the tense muscles that are keeping the larynx high in the throat.

The next maneuver is to press on the larynx long enough to relax the over-stretched vocal cords. While this is being done

the patient is asked to cough, clear the throat, or utter a sound to demonstrate that the natural voice is lower. Meanwhile, re-education is needed in breathing in and out more generously and speaking in a full and convincing manner.

With the return of the normal voice, the man is asked to repeat numbers and syllables and talk louder and in a stronger tone of voice. This is easier when the vocal cords become shorter, thicker, and less tense so that they can vibrate at a lower frequency. Temporary hoarseness may develop because of lack of laryngeal coordination.

Persistence is required. Dr.

Roy W. Franklin states that the falsetto must not be used even when talking with family and friends. These men are grateful for the change; they gain self-confidence and in time forget what the falsetto voice sounded like.

Yankees Pound Ball And Trim Washington, 8-1

Sturdivant Victor, Only 4,735 Attend

NEW YORK, May 24 (P)—Andy Carey, never regarded as a power hitter, became the fifth major league player ever to knock a home run into the distant left field bleachers at Yankee Stadium today.

And the Yanks, taking their cue from that second inning swat, ended their hitting slump by hammering out 13 hits and an 8-1 decision over the Washington Senators.

Chuck Stobbs, Washington's luckless lefty, was the victim of Carey's 430-foot blow, which came after a single by Elston Howard in the second and gave the Yanks the lead. Stobbs failed to survive the third inning and suffered his ninth defeat of an all-losing season.

The only other batters who have reached the left field bleachers on the fly are Jimmy Foxx, Hank Greenberg, Joe DiMaggio and Gus Zernial. The last one was Zernial in 1951.

Howard was catching for the Yankees because Yogi Berra hurt a foot when he was hit by a foul ball in last night's exhibition game.

The smallest crowd of the season, 4,735, saw Stobbs run his losing streak to 14 straight over two seasons and Tom Sturdivant chalk up his third victory with a four-hitter pitching job.

Sturdivant lost a shutout when Mickey Mantle lost Jim Lemon's drive in the sun in the second inning. It went for a triple and brought in Herb Plews, who had walked.

Local Man Guilty In Motor Case

James William Fadley, 32, of 1414 River Avenue, yesterday was sentenced to the county jail for a period of approximately ten months as the result of his arrest early Tuesday morning on motor vehicle violations.

Fadley was arrested near his home by Officer James Bolyard after police headquarters had received a radio call from Chief of Police Jack D. Cornett of Ridgeley that he was pursuing a car in the direction of the interstate bridge at River Avenue.

Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick sentenced Fadley to six months in the county jail after finding Fadley guilty of his second offense of drunken driving, and imposed an additional 60 days in default of $150 fine on the same charge.

Fadley was also found guilty of reckless driving and drew a 30-day sentence in the county jail in default of a $50 fine; was convicted of operating a vehicle without a license, and was given an additional 25 days in default of a $25 fine on that charge.

Magistrate Dick suspended a $10 fine after finding Fadley guilty of failing to have in his possession the registration for the automobile he was driving at the time of his arrest.

The jail sentences were to run consecutively. Magistrate Dick stated, after pointing out to Fadley that he had a long record of motor vehicle violations including the previous conviction on driving under the influence.

Fadley pleaded not guilty to the reckless driving and under the influence charges.

Orphans Court Probates Two Wills

Two wills were admitted to probate yesterday in Orphans Court.

The will of Milton J. Phillips, city, who died May 17 named the Liberty Trust Company as executor. The bank furnished bond of $1,000. The document lists Emily P. Wilgus, city, a daughter, as beneficiary of two-thirds of the estate and a son, Howard S. Phillips, Pittsburgh, a one-third share.

The will of Rebecca S. Dinning, Lonacoking, who died May 6 names her son, Zihlman Dinning, 296 Welsh Hill, Frostburg, as executor. He and Margaret D. Stakem, a daughter of the deceased, are named beneficiaries.

Flintstone Man Held In Default Of Bond

Benjamin Imes Jr., Flintstone, yesterday was ordered to the county jail in default of $500 bond for action of the grand jury in connection with a morals case involving a 13-year-old girl.

Charges were preferred by Edwin R. Lilla, county investigator, after questioning in the State's Attorney's office. The preliminary hearing was before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

Imes is another of some 20 men who have been charged in the case involving two 13-year-old girls.

Bank Debits Increase

Cumberland bank debits (checks) totaled $27,209,000 in March of this year as compared to $26,994,000 for the same month last year, according to the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Harry Vernal who passed away 8 years ago today. A wonderful father, man and aide. One who was better, God never made. A wonderful worker, so loyal and true. One in a million that father just knew. His advice was always right. Honest and liberal, even upright. Loved by your friends, and all you knew. Wonderful father, that father was you. Sadly missed by his wife and family.

WM Railway Wreck Damage Set At $50,000

Broken Rail Is Probable Cause

Damage estimated at $50,000 was caused early yesterday morning at Fairchance, Pa., when a diesel road engine and 18 loaded coal cars of a 96-car Western Maryland train wrecked. No one was injured.

Normal traffic, according to a railway spokesman, was expected to be resumed at 9 o'clock last night. The cause of the wreck was probably a broken rail, the spokesman added.

The train was bound for Connellsville from Fairmont, W. Va.

Joseph M. Miller, Western Division superintendent of the railroad, said damages were estimated at $50,000, including equipment and loss of lading.

The accident occurred at 5:10 a.m. on the F. M. and P. Branch of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad which is used by the Western Maryland to haul coal from the Fairmont section.

A home near the scene of the accident missed being hit by about 20 feet. There were occupants in the house at the time. One of the hoppers which left the rails fell on a parked car in a driveway at the home.

Mr. Miller went to the scene of the wreckage with other railroad officials.

B&O work trains from Connellsville and Fairmont were at the scene cleaning up the wreckage.

H. R. Zetty was engineer and J. D. Malcolm, conductor, of the train that was due to arrive in Connellsville about 6:30 a.m.

He is John C. Spiker, of 44 Maple Street, a member of the department for about seven years, according to Chief Virgil A. Parker.

Mr. Spiker, who is a chauffeur and also clerk at Central Fire Station, plans to move his family to Florida. Chief Parker said Mr. Spiker's resignation is effective June 3.

At present he is on vacation and will return to work for about four days before leaving the fire department.

Other than driving the fire fighting equipment, Mr. Spiker did clerical work at Central station including payroll work. Chief Parker pointed out yesterday there are five men on the eligible list of the Civil Service Commission.

Another fireman, also a chauffeur and first aid instructor, Herman A. Cunningham, 24 Potomac Street, is also resigning and will go to work at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

Charter Is Amended At Luke

Mayor Edward Duckworth and the Luke Council last night passed a resolution amending the town's charter to give the officials the right to close streets and alleys when it is considered necessary.

Apparently this action was taken in anticipation of the expansion of the Luke mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company which will require closing of some streets.

The resolution provides that a hearing shall be held before any street, alley or public way is closed and the property owners suffering as a result of the closing shall receive compensation damages.

This amendment to the charter will become effective July 13 until 20 per cent of the town's registered voters sign a petition on or before July 3 calling for a referendum on the question.

The action to close a street may be started on motion of the Mayor and Council or by application of any resident of the community.

Mayor Duckworth and Commissioners Luther Crites Sr., Avelina Diaz and Kenneth Wilcox voted for the resolution. Commissioner Thomas Haywood abstained from voting. The resolution was prepared by Earl E. Manges, attorney for the town.

An NLRB hearing was held by Sidney Smith to hear all sides. Today's decision by the full board affirmed Smith's recommendation for a jurisdictional election.

The Brotherhood of Electrical Workers last October informed the company it wanted to represent the workers assigned to handle electrical duties.

The company, however, told the
